The Definition of an Honor Delegate

Are you ready to take the next step in your leadership journey? Well, this is your opportunity. Being an Honor Delegate requires you to apply your leadership skills. You must also prepare to be responsible and organized through your journey as an Honor Delegate. The First Vice President Honor Delegate positions include Discussion Group Leader, Roundtable Moderator and Recorder along with committee positions. The Second Vice President jobs, which are my domain, include providing goods for the convention (Service Projects) and helping spread ideas around our state (Hall of Ideas).

-Service Projects-

If you want to be an Honor Delegate in the Service Project area, you can do a wide array of things such as making a monetary donation, donating items for State Convention, or even creating raffle baskets.

-Hall of Ideas-

The Hall of Ideas provides opportunities for students and schools to showcase their activities. Free-standing displays and handouts are set up so schools can present their projects to other Student Councils throughout the state. The Hall of Ideas is a great opportunity for all.

Dear Student Council Advisor,

This summer has flown by, and I'm so excited to start working with you and your students! I look forward to seeing what the students this year will do within their own student councils, as well as their districts, and the state. We, as the IASC Executive Board, are enthusiastic to work with you and to make this year the best that it can be. I am happy to inform you that it is time to start applying for Second Vice President Honor Delegate positions!

My duty as the Second Vice President of the IASC is to recommend Honor Delegates for both the Hall of Ideas and Service Projects. These positions play a vital role in our State Convention. We like to see students getting involved in every part of the state and hope to see a diverse and strong group of students represented in our applications this year. As Second Vice President, I will make sure to stay in close contact with the Honor Delegates. Hall of Ideas applicants will display their council's best activity or project on a free-standing presentation board. Service Project applicants are asked to donate supplies or their time and effort for the betterment of the state convention.

As an advisor, I ask that you encourage all of your members to apply to seize this wonderful leadership opportunity. Attached you will find a letter for your students that explains these positions. Also attached are the instructions for applications. Students may only apply for one Honor Delegate position. Students running for state office may not serve as Honor Delegates.

This opportunity is excellent for showcasing your students' passion for leadership and will give them access to the inside works of the IASC. I hope that this year's Honor Delegate applications will grow in number and participation and that starts with you, the advisor. Your dedication to your students and the IASC is greatly appreciated. I hope to hear from you soon!

Best Regards,

Kendall Plummer

Dear Student Council Member,

Hello, I hope your summer was spectacular! It's that time of year again, school starting, and now the 86th annual IASC State Convention is rapidly approaching. We, as the IASC Executive Board, have begun to work on this year's many activities and events. We will improve this year's State Convention to the best of our abilities. This year, you can be a part of it all, and the board and I would be ecstatic for you to serve as an Honor Delegate!

My duty as Second Vice President is to recruit students and to recommend students from the state for two honor delegate positions: Service Projects and Hall of Ideas.

Service projects are vital to the state convention in order for it to run smoothly. A wide array of service projects are needed for our State Convention. You and your school will have the ability to decide what you feel would be the most helpful, whether that be a donation, a raffle basket, or some other contribution to the convention's success. The IASC greatly appreciated your time, effort, and needed supplies to help the state and our convention. Your help in this Honor Delegate position will have a positive impact on you and your peers' experiences.

Hall of Ideas Honor Delegates are students who would love to share unique ideas from their local councils. This will help spread notable ideas within the state. Honor Delegates will create a free-standing presentation to display that will include a physical handout detailing your project. Past topics include drives, fundraisers, and any unique idea or event you have held or are currently holding. Being an Honor Delegate will help members obtain exposure to the IASC.

All of the necessary information for choosing the perfect Honor Delegate position for you is located in this packet. Please decide which one would best suit you. Speak to your advisor or advisors about your choices and options so they can also help you with this decision! I thank you for your interest in the IASC and I look forward to working with you in the future. If you have any questions, feel free to contact me.

Best Regards,

Kendall Plummer
